forwards the Currency Ordinance, 1940 and the administrative Currency Law 1940, relating to the new form of India Notes of the Denominational Value of rupee one.

Under this Ordinance the Central Government get authority to issue Government of India Notes of the denominational value of Re.1/- and such notes shall be current in British India in the same manner and to the same extent and as fully as the silver coin called the government rupee, issued under the Indian Coinage Act.

In Mysore, under Section 2 of the Coinage Act of 1900 coins of the Government of India are legal tende in Mysore and all laws in force in British India applicable to current coins apply to coins current in Mysore also.

Vol II Mysore Code 469.

Under the Mysore Paper Currency Act of 1919, bank notes issued under any Indian Paper Currency Act for the time being in force in British India or a ban note issued by the Reserve Bank is legal tender in Mysore.

Vol VI Mysore Code 494

In the light of these two enactments coins and bank notes which are current in British India would automatically become current in Mysore also.

No special enactment or notification therefore appears called for.

The Indian Coinage (amendment) Ordinance passed recently in British India was republished in the Mysore Gazette recently. (No.P1678-Legis.17-40-1 dated 20th September 1940). It was then considered that there was no need to enact it independently in Mysore as the law in force in British India would apply to Mysore.

If approved, the present Ordinance also will be republished here for general information.
